HACKERS, HIPAA AND HYPE

Understanding Data Safety and Patient Confidentiality

Have you...

- ✓ Conducted a technology security review?
- ✓ Updated your business associated agreements?
- ✓ Had patients sign an updated privacy form?
- ✓ Established a disaster plan in the event of a data breach?

If the answer is no, your practice is not compliant with the September 23, 2013 HIPAA Omnibus Final Rule. You are not alone. Most dentists are struggling with the new rules.

As a dental professional you have a moral and legal obligation to protect your patient's confidentiality. HIPAA compliance consists largely of having the right forms and signatures. On the other hand, there are important real world measures dentists should be taking beyond the paperwork that can make an actual difference in patient data security. In addition to HIPAA there is the HITECH law that calls for severe fines and more to dental offices that experience a data breach.

Program Features: Learn what PHI, CE, NPP, BA and Exempt mean and why it matters. Understand the critical elements of risk assessment, the five basic steps to compliance and four critical elements to prevent a data breach. Most important of all, learn the one and only procedure you need to protect your practice from data breach (your "get out of jail free" card).

This entertaining, must see presentation from the nation's leading high tech dentist, Dr. Larry Emmott, is delivered in a fun and easy to understand style. Participants will leave with peace of mind, resources for compliance and a plan of action to put to use on Monday morning.

Dr. Emmott has addressed hundreds of professional groups, and has been a featured speaker at every major US dental meeting. Additionally, since 2003 he has led an annual three day CE adventure course "Technology on the Rocks" in Sedona Arizona.

He has been published hundreds of times in leading national dental magazines and journals. He was a pioneer in online publishing with his blog EmmottonTechnology.com and has been recognized as one of the top ten dentists in social media.
